PREMIUM REWARDED

FOR FINEST PIANO AND FINEST ORGAN.

THEIR MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY OF PIANOS AND ORGANS AT THE HARRISON COUNTY FAIR
SECURES HIGHEST POS-SIBLE AWARD.

FINEST EVER SEEN HERE

The judges have announced their decision and awarded the prizes for the musical exhibits at the County fair. It will cause no surprise to anyone who has visited the Fair to learn that Hamilton's magnificent display of pianos and organs won the coveted first prize. It is admitted on all sides that the Hamilton display is much the finest in its line ever seen here.

The display includes superb specimens of such famous pianos as the A.
B. Chase, Smith & Barnes, Schumann and other well known makers. There is a piano-cage, Clough & Warren organ and a beautiful parlor style in oak. One of the principal attractions of the exhibit is an Angelus Piano Player, which has delighted thousands of visitors to the fair.

The S. Hamilton Co. is the oldest and largest music house in Pittsburgh, and occupies a six-story building on Wood street, subdivided into thirty-one rooms used for the display of pianos, organs and Angelus Piano Players, and hundreds of other musical instruments.

The S. Hamilton Co. was incorporated under the laws of West Virginia.

The pianos on display at the Clarksburg Fair will be sold to the "first comers," but they will not be removed from the building until after the Fair. They are especially selected instruments, having been taken from a stock of over two hundred pianos, organs and Angel-uses, and any one purchasing one of these will be a particularly fine piano or organ.

The S. Hamilton Co. is represented in Clarksburg by one of their oldest salesmen, Mr. W. S. Teeple, who is living at 324 Clark street. Any one writing him for catalogues will receive prompt and courteous attention.
